fresh approach to standard literature and his phenomenal and quite amazing technique and his improvisational skill are absolutely amazing. ## DEAN'S LETTER

Dear Friends and Colleagues,

With great anticipation, I am awaiting the sign of my tulips breaking forth through the earth to inform the viewer that they survived the winter season. Of the dozens of bulbs my husband planted last fall, I am wondering how many will make it. Those flowers along with all the other perennials will need plenty of water and nourishment to encourage full realization of their beauty.

How did you survive the winter? Are you personally and/or professionally in need of nourishment? What do you plan to do about it? As we prepare to plant gardens of vegetables and flowers, we select the plants carefully. After planting we give attention to special care of watering and fertilizing the young growth and continue to provide nourishment until the plants mature. Even then they require some attention.

So what kind of attention are you giving to your own needs? Are you planning a vacation for rest as well as restoration of your mind, body and spirit? Are you vowing to work on your New Year's resolution to get regular exercise? Do you hope to catch up on that stack of reading? Will you be spending more time with family/friends?

What about your professional needs? Do your skills need to be nourished and refreshed as well? What are you going to do about that? Have you considered attending summer workshops/conferences? Perhaps you need to find a mentor to help guide you. How about organ lessons to sharpen technique?

The month of May signals the winding down of the regular program year for churches and schools. TCAGO has a few programs remaining for your consideration. On May 10 Cameron Carpenter presents an organ recital at Wayzata Community Church at 7:30 pm. He is a young organ virtuoso who has captured the enthusiasm of young people all over the country. Come see what he is all about! Also scheduled will be the Competition Winners' Recital on Friday, May 13 at 7:30pm. Please support these young people as they represent the future.

May your spring yield beautiful flowers, delicious fruit and renewed spirits!

Judy Campen, Dean

Archive News

Recollections from a Former TCAGO Dean

A recent conversation with Maline Broberg, a retired public school music teacher colleague, prompted questions about a former TCAGO Dean. Now in retirement, 90 years old and living in Claremont, California, Wilbur Held was our dean from 1945-1946. During his time in Minnesota, Maline studied organ with him. She still writes to him and asked if I'd be interested in having his address. "Yes," I said, especially since I looked for him at our national convention in Los Angeles last summer. (I knew that he was there.) I wanted to tell him that I valued as staples in my service music repertoire his compositions for organ, voice and instruments. I also wanted to ask if he would share any recollections of his time in the Twin Cities and TCAGO.

So, I wrote to Dr. Held in early March and enclosed from our archives a copy of the minutes of an AGO executive board meeting that he submitted and signed on September 22, 1945. He wrote back a two page letter dated March 17. These are some of the people that he commented on:

- R. Buchanan Morton was our dean from 1920—1922. Because he was in failing health and unable to play, Mr. Held played the organ for the Brahms' Requiem at House of Hope Church. Mr. Morton's son, Ian, conducted. (According to the Minn. Death Certificate Index, R. Buchanan Morton died on July 23, 1946.)
- Stanley R. Avery was the organist/choirmaster at St. Mark's Cathedral. Dr. Held said that Mr. Avery did a series of oratorios with minimal orchestra. "I often did the organ, and it meant picking up the wind parts, as the orchestra was mostly strings. Considering war-time problems and limitations, we did some pretty good performances." [Stanley Avery (1879-1967) was our treasurer in 1913. Our balance on hand on Nov. 3, 1913 was $40.51. We had 42 members.]

Arthur Jennings (1887-1972) was our dean from 1943-1945. Dr. Held and his wife were friends with Mr. and Mrs. Jennings. He did some playing for Arthur. When Arthur's term as dean was over, "...he rather undiplomatically and undemocratically railroaded me [Wilbur Held] in as his successor. There were some grumbles which I thought were justified, but somehow he smoothed things out and I found myself dean for one year—re-elected too, but I had to resign....I got the job as Professor of Organ at Ohio State University, starting in the fall of 1946."

- George Fairclough's (Our first dean 1910-1912, then 1914-1915 and 1939-1943) influence was still with us, according to Dr. Held. [Mr. Fairclough was born in Hamilton, Ontario in 1869 and died in Saratoga, California in 1954.]

As for his year as dean, Mr. Held said; "I think we put on a successful program that year. I felt that the high point for me (and maybe this was the previous year) was a concert of organ with orchestra in the Lutheran Church just south of the Stadium [Univ. of Minn.]...could it have been Harvard Street? [Maybe Grace Lutheran Church] Mrs. Norberg was the organist-director there. We enlisted the University symphony, and programmed three works: Arthur Jennings played the Guilman first sonata in the arrangement Guilman made for organ and orchestra, Rupert Sircom played a Handel concerto, and I played Leo Sowerby's Medieval Poem which delighted me, because I had been Leo's assistant at St. James Church in Chicago for several years."

During World War II, Mr. Held writes, "I was a drafted conscientious objector. After spending a year in forestry camps in Michigan, I applied for an assignment at the Laboratory of Physiological Hygiene at the Univ. of Minn. I had been a cook in camp, and that was my job at the Lab....For those three years I was able to have a church job—two years as organist at First Baptist in St. Paul, and one as organist-director at Christ Episcopal Church in St. Paul [razed for freeway construction]. In addition to my church jobs, I did a bit of recital playing in several churches and at Northrop Auditorium."

In a final paragraph, Wilbur Held says that he and his wife found the Twin Cities wonderful... "people were so friendly and there was such an active musical life despite war time...it was a very happy time in our lives."

Thank you, Dr. Held, for sharing your Minnesota memories and for enriching our archives.

CARY JOHN FRANKLIN WORLD PREMIERE

For the past three years, VocalEssence Meet The Composer composer-in-residence Cary John Franklin has engaged area high school students directly in the process of creating new choral music. 150 of these young singers – the voices of the next generation – will join the VocalEssence Chorus with orchestra in concert at Orchestra Hall on Sunday, May 15 at 4:00 pm.

Tomorrow's Voices will showcase the music Cary has written for each of three Meet The Composer partner high schools, bringing the 2004-05 Season to a finale with the world premiere of his setting of the Gloria, written for all four choruses with full orchestra. The concert also features the VocalEssence Chorus with a boy soprano soloist in a performance of Leonard Bernstein's high expressive, optimistic Chichester Psalms in the original orchestration. For tickets and information, call 612-371-5656 or 1-800-292-4141 or visit www.vocalescence.org.

Meet The Composer named Cary John Franklin the recipient of a three-year residency with VocalEssence beginning in the fall of 2002. Since then, Cary has been working with choirs from three Minnesota senior high schools – St. Paul Como Park (urban), Minnetonka (suburban) and Red Wing (Greater Minnesota) – composing new music for each. His role in the schools is one of creator and teacher as he meets with students on a regular basis, writing music specifically for the needs of each high school.

Cary has also written and arranged music for the performing forces of VocalEssence during the three-year residency. His first piece, How Excellent is Thy Name, was premiered in the 2003-04 VocalEssence concert season by St. Paul's Cathedral Choir, London, and A Carol, a lovely setting of a poem by Donald Hall, was premiered at Welcome Christmas! in 2003. He also arranged music for WITNESS concerts and other special occasions. □
